

IN THE COMMON PLEAS COURT OF BUTLER COUNTY, OHIO
CRIMINAL DIVISION

STATE OF OHIO	:
	:	CASE NO. DIRECT
Plaintiff,	:
v.	:
PUNXSUTAWNEY PHIL	:	NOLLE PROSEQUI
Defendant.	:	(DISMISSAL OF CHARGE)
	:

It appearing to the Prosecutor that Punxsutawney Phil has a defense with teeth in it – his handler stepped up to the burrow to take full responsibility for misinterpreting said Defendant’s prediction of an early Spring – the charge against Punxsutawney Phil is hereby dismissed.

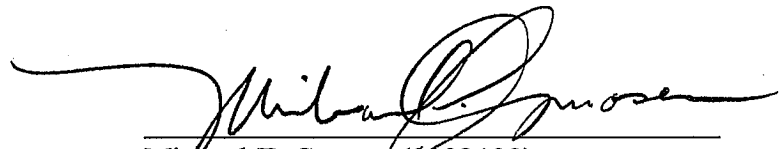

Michael T. Gmoser (0002132)
Butler County Prosecuting Attorney
315 High Street
Hamilton, OH 45011

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT

No one should consider this case all that unusual. After all, the majority in the U.S. Senate is represented by a donkey, the majority in the U.S. House of Representatives is represented by an elephant and there is a lame duck in the White House planning to turn loose an Easter Bunny on the White House lawn. Now as it turns out, Punxsutawney Phil is little more than a scapegoat for the misinterpretation of his handler and the dismissal is thereby appropriate. And for all who took this case too seriously and were told this case was tongue-in-cheek, those are not body parts of a groundhog for a stew. In these serious times, I hope this case brought a light-hearted moment to all concerned with a warm welcome to Spring ahead.

Respectfully submitted,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Michael T. Gmoser", written over a horizontal line.

Michael T. Gmoser (0002132)
Butler County Prosecuting Attorney